

NEW YORK, SUNDAY, AUGUST 10, 1919.
Copyright, 1919, by the Sun Printing and Publishing Association.

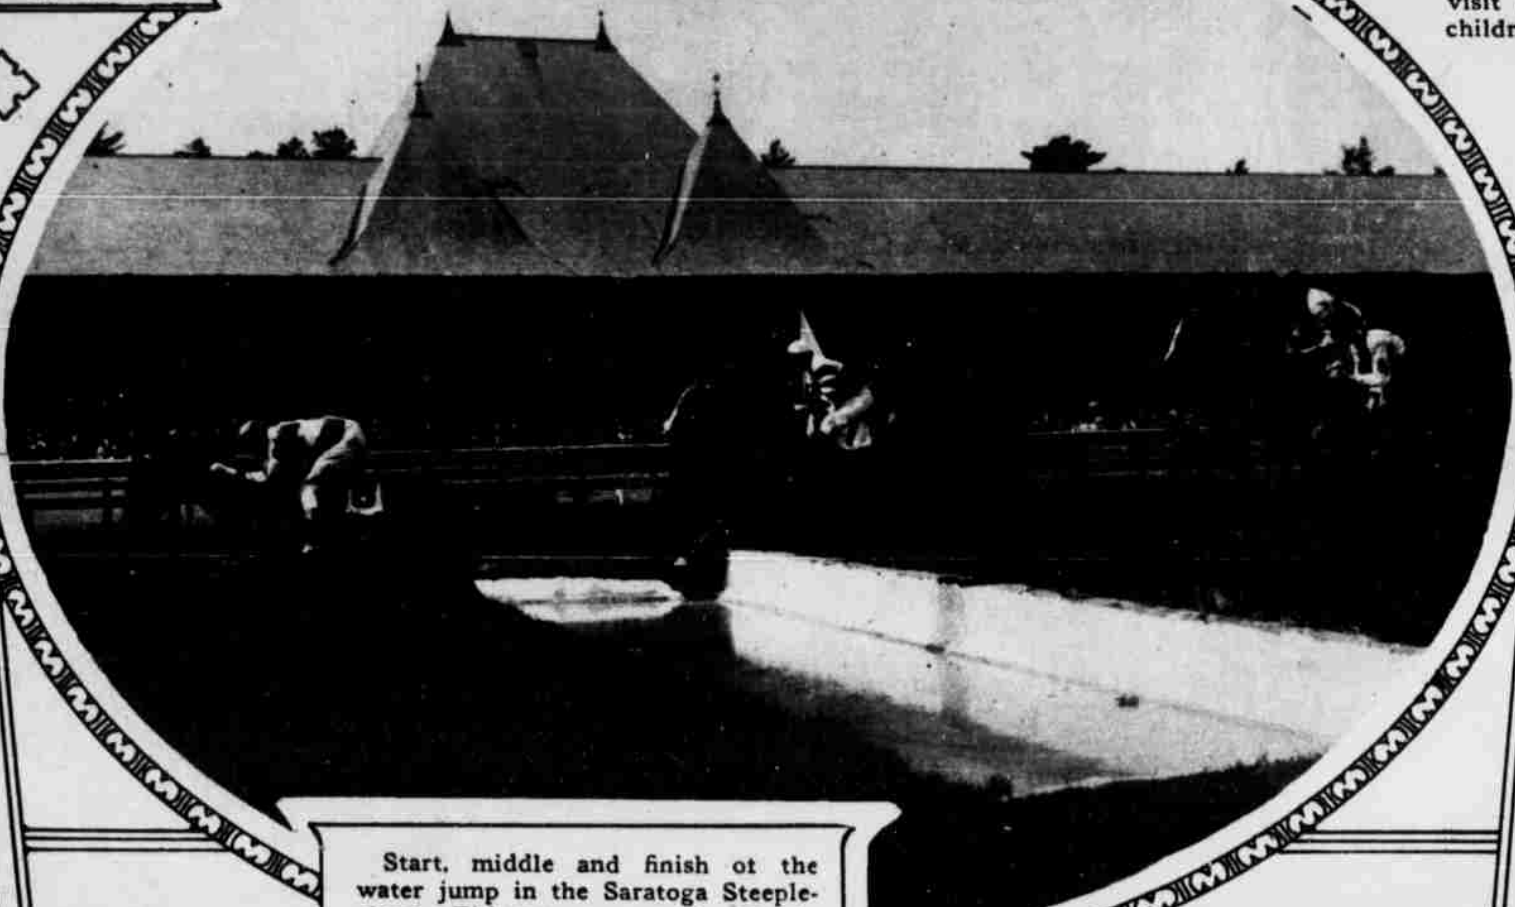

Above—Man o' War, famous 2-year-old, with Johnny Loftus up, wins the $10,000 United States Hotel Stakes at Saratoga. This was called "Saratoga's best race."

Below—Miss I. E. Calhoun of the motion picture play "Oh, Boy" and her mascot, "Laurie of Lang," at the races.

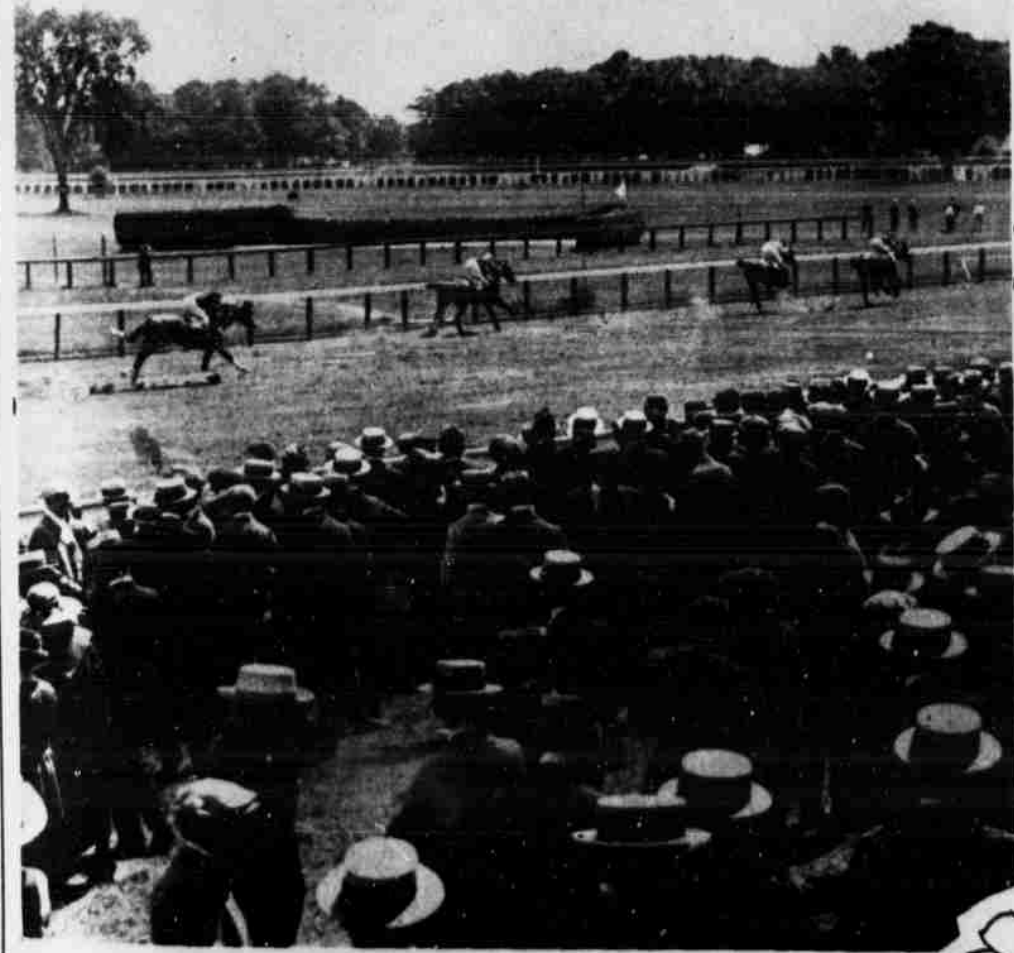

Above—Jockey Earl Sands up on Milkmaid. Sands won two races at Saratoga, one with War Pennant and one with Milkmaid. His riding on the latter caused some criticism, it is said.

Below—Queen Elizabeth of Belgium, soon to visit this country with King Albert and their children.

Start, middle and finish of the water jump in the Saratoga Steeplechase. This race was won by North-end, the entry of A. J. Davis.

Photos Copyright Underwood & Underwood

War Pennant, owned by J. K. L. Ross, winning the first race, with Sands up. Sands's suspension of sixty days for a piece of riding at Latonia had just been lifted.

Berlin in the throes of a trolley strike. This is the famous Potsdamer Platz at the height of the confusion. Note the utilization of horse drawn vehicles and the absence of motor cars.